

ABOUT NAMA

The National Association of Municipal Advisors (NAMA) is the only professional organization dedicated to representing and serving Municipal Advisors, which it has done for over forty years. The core members of the organization are independent Municipal Advisory Firms. Since 2010, NAMA members also include individual MAs, broker-dealer MAs, and other professionals.

NAMA serves as a collective voice for the municipal advisor industry to educate professionals and respond to regulatory and legislative proposals that impact MA practices and services. Especially over the past fifteen years, NAMA has submitted dozens of comment letters to the SEC and the MSRB on MA Rulemaking and other municipal market initiatives. NAMA comment letters to the SEC and MSRB have led to positive changes for MAs in final rulemaking.

Through involvement of its membership, NAMA is recognized by regulators and other market leaders and participants as the key voice for the municipal advisor profession. Ongoing dialogue with SEC and MSRB leadership and staff, including examiners, have helped NAMA member members better understand and rulemaking and prepare for the exam process.

NAMA is also a member of numerous industry groups covering a variety of topics including preserving the tax-exemption of bonds, disclosure standards, data standards, and MSRB activities.

NAMA provides members with numerous educational and networking opportunities through a variety of forums.
